

Equal Opportunity

Mon Mar 14, 2011

Utah Wing members:

CAP has a strict policy on issues regarding discrimination and equal opportunity.

Senior members are required to complete Equal Opportunity Training.

This one-time course takes a few moments and is found in eServices.

After you log in, look on the LEFT side for CAP Online Courses & Exams. You will find a number of courses available including the one for Equal Opportunity.

This has been a requirement for SENIOR members for many months. At some point in the near future, seniors who have not completed this required training will be suspended from CAP activity participation.

Note: In January 2009, CAPR 36-1 was revised to include mandatory Equal Opportunity Training.

If you have not completed this course, please do it. If you're unsure whether or not you have completed it, log into eServices and see if it is recorded in your training record. If it's not recorded in eServices, it has not been done.

Squadron commanders are able to pull a report for their squadron to help encourage seniors in their squadrons to complete this requirement.

Commander, Utah Wing

Note: When you click on the "Equal Opportunity Training" link you will be taken to National CAP Web where you should see the following:

The image shows a web form titled "Civil Air Patrol" and "Equal Opportunity Briefing". Below the title, there are two input fields: "Last Name:" followed by a text box, and "CAPID:" followed by a text box. Below these fields is a "Submit" button.

Enter your last name and CAPID. When you click "Submit" you will be informed if you have completed the Briefing and the date completed.
